2 weeks of Games...40 years of debt!

Oct 1990

4,552 competitors, 1,424 officials, 1,014 sporting encounters, 130 countries, massive new sports facilities, £150m worth of building work,....

Eh??... £150m works out at at least £25 per-person per-year for at least 22 years, and the cost is still rising, added to all our Poll Tax bills.

The games will also cost a further £27m to run, this is supposed to be coming mainly from private sponsors but the amount over £2.5m that the council has already ploughed into this is anybody's guess. Universiade GB (UGB), the company set up to raise this money collapsed when it was £4m in debt, the council was owed £2.5m of this and they immediately gave another million.

Since the Games body FISU decided Sheffield is to host the Games, we have been lied to repeatedly about how much it will cost us. The organisers have been seen to be incompetent, bumbling idiots, staggering from one crisis to the next. The regular sackings and resignations are always followed by accusations of lying to the council and financial incompetence. The boss at the moment, Ray 'grisley' Gridley (always known to be incompetent to the private tenants of Sheffield) is receiving £60,000 a year plus perks like a free posh car and free travel and accommodation. The Games has turned out to be alright for some!!!!

THE COUNCIL HAS ACTED, FROM THE START, WITHOUT ASKING US, THE PEOPLE EXPECTED TO PAY FOR THE GAMES. WE WERE NEVER ASKED IF WE WANTED THEM IN THE FIRST PLACE.

The councillors tell us that they are acting in the interests of the people of Sheffield, that the Games will put Sheffield on the map. It's a publicity stunt that will apparently make companies suddenly think, "Oh! I know, let's set up in Sheffield, they held the World Student Games there!"

It should be obvious to anyone that companies, whose only concern is to make profits will only set up where profits are to be made. This usually means where wages are most depressed, due to unemployment, local conditions (Sheffield has 9.5% unemployment, compared to 5.7% nationally, wages are up to 11% less than the national average. The local average wage has dropped from £4.94 an hour to £2.50 an hour in ONE YEAR!), or where workers are known to be 'not militant'. The only jobs on offer, in reality (as opposed to in the minds of certain councillors), are low paid such as part-time shop assistants and sports facility attendants. The companies, which are hardly flocking to Sheffield anyway, are not employing local people in any of the 'good jobs'. The council is compounding this by using volunteers and young offenders to do skilled jobs such as painting and decorating, translating, medical duties etc. This is a panic measure as the true cost of the Games is becoming apparent.

Small businesses in Attercliffe have been forced to close down either because the Council wanted the land or through pure insensitivity. Communities are seeing their own local amenities cut such as libraries, swimming pools, community centres etc. as the cash is transferred to the WSG bottomless pit. Sheffield's education system is massively underfunded, schools are falling down, the number of teachers is being cut down, the Tertiary Colleges can't afford to make their floors safe, adult education subsidies for the worse off among us are being cut. Schools are millions overspent and are already using next years money.

Next years Poll Tax has been forecast at over £600, but not, as the council try to make out, because of the non-payers, it's because a city the size of Sheffield simply can't run on the Poll Tax. Services will be cut and sold off anyway and that can only make life harder for us. With the Poll Tax, as with everything else, it's time to say 'no further!' Join your local anti-Poll Tax group, if you've paid up to now, it's not too late to stop paying.

In 1992, the Council has to put all recreation facilities out to tender, this means that they have to start making more profit from the facilities and prices have to rise, beyond our budget! We also find out, after the Mcvities competition, that we have to pay for these wonderful events that the Council wins for us!!

The story so far...

Aug 86: Sheffield's bid to get the World Student Games starts.

total cost: £10m

Nov 86: total cost: £30m

Jun 87: Natwest Bank gives £15,000 as a thank-you gesture for the millions they've made out of students over the years.

Aug 87: A planned park at the Ponds Forge site is scrapped.

Sept 87: Ray 'grisley' Gridley appointed director of the bid to get the games. £20m is committed to build Ponds Forge pool, before the games bid is accepted.

Nov 87: total cost: £100m

Dec 87: total cost: £130m

Jan 88: Gerry 'giz-a-job' Montgomery is now getting £50,000 a year to run the games bid, alongside Clive 'the scab' Betts, Joan 'keep it in the family' Barton, Peter 'incompetent' Price, and 3 members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Feb 88: Private firms have only contributed 10% of the £70,000 already spent, but the committee is receiving "help in kind"!!

A disabled man is told "You've no chance in the next two years because the WSG is more important than anything else" when he applies for a council house move for himself, wife, son and two daughters (one pregnant) from his three bedroomed house.

May 88: More than 30 shops, warehouses and pieces of land down for compulsory purchase because the council thinks they don't look nice next to the new facilities. total cost: £113m

Council 'lends' a quarter of a million to Universiade GB (Ltd) (UGB) as an urgent requirement.

Feb 89: 2400 holes need to be drilled to fill mineworkings under Ponds Forge. £10,000 put aside to run the sports facilities after the games.

Council plans a £1m facelift for the main routes into the city.

March 89: £3m spectacular museum planned at Ponds Forge.

May 89: Council plans to spend £43m on Hyde Park, then knock it down, are not approved by the Government.

June 89: Firms in Attercliffe closing down because the building work causes a drop in trade.

91 club launched - for £5000 companies can use Universiade GB logo for advertising, and get free tickets.

Sept 89: cost cutting occurs due to overspending.

Oct 89: 8000 volunteers required. Council meeting gets angry, Clive 'the scab', Joan 'keep it in the family' Barton and Peter 'incompetent' Price accused of rushing through proposals without giving proper thought to the long term implications for Sheffield.

Nov 89: The museum idea is dropped to save money. Gerry 'giz a job' Montgomery resigns, he may eventually return as a private consultant!!

Mr Fixit, Alan Brailey resigns. Peter 'tell tale' Burns gets the sack from the 60,000 a year job as boss of UGB.

Robbin' Barron appointed acting director of UGB.

A+F Drake take back £5000 worth of furniture after a row with UGB.

Dec 89: One person offered the job that Alan Brailey quit refused it after seeing the accounts. 4 directors of UGB are getting £30,000 a year each. The total wage bill for UGB is well over £1m a year plus company cars and travel costs etc. UGB is £750,000 in the red.

Jan 90: Security budget halved to save money. Jobs freeze, 7000 volunteers needed. BBC and ITV both say they won't film the Games. The council gives £250,000 to UGB. It also becomes known that the council has slipped UGB a further £1.5m interest free loan to UGB via 'Sheffield For Health', on top of the £1m already given to cover the day to day running costs. Danny 'the rat' Simson quits as finance boss, days before the records are published.

UGB has a trading loss of £3.306m, the vast majority owed to the council. The company needs £640,000 to survive.

The cultural festival is dropped.

Feb 90: Security budget dropped from £1.5m to £0.5m. Hyde Park refurbishment stopped due to lack of funds. Concord Park hockey ground scrapped. Sky TV (who?) deal fixed. The indoor stadium, which will be owned by an American company needs to be subsidised, after the Games, it could be up to £2.4m a year.

March 90: The sports facilities will cost £8m a year to run.

April 90: Young offenders forced to work on Hyde Park for nothing with insufficient safety. £1m Club launched.

May 90: Tennis centre at Hillsborough scrapped due to local opposition. Furnishing contract collapses due to cash flow crisis.

June 90: Council puts in another £1m as UGB collapses, £4m in debt. The Sports Council refuses to hand over £1.4m still owed out of the £3m originally promised, due to lack of confidence in the Games. The council sacks 44 of the UGB staff. Ray 'grisley' Gridley is now in charge of the Games Secretariat and gets £60,000 a year for his troubles.

July 90: The Govt again refuses money for Hyde Park. Norton confirmed as the site of the tennis facilities, in spite of local protests.

The volunteers who took part in the 'Telethon' paint the village farce did not do it well enough, it needs doing again.

Aug 90: The Games company still needs £17m to run the Games, the £1m Club has all of 2000 members, the 91 Club has 102.

Sept 90: Nearly every night stories of financial crisis in the Star, facilities are being cut across the city no new sponsorship has appeared, schools are in crisis and the council is sacking hundreds of workers to save money.

What they've said...

"The scale of the problem is enormous, we will need £10m over 5 years"

John Morrel, Chief Recreation Officer, Aug 86

"Don't worry about the cash, it will all come back"

Gerry Montgomery, Aug 86

"The capital outlay could be as great as £30m. The council could find £4m in four years"

Peter Price, Nov 86

"The authority has always made it clear that Sheffielders would have to pay for the £100m worth of facilities"

Peter Price, March 89

"It's only like building a school or an old peoples home, and we always planned another sports facility in the city"

Peter Price, Jan 90

"It's vital if the city is to provide the right image to a global audience" (the council had just applied for a grant of £5m from the Government, to smarten up the roads into the city, and provide a false image to a global audience, they got £600,000)

Clive Betts, Nov 89

"When I said the council would give one million and no more, it was in good faith but circumstances have changed"

Clive Betts, June 90

"Poll Tax cash should be ploughed into the Games"

Coun. Mukesh Savani, Jan 90

"Within 9 months it's all starting to go sour"

Liberal Councillor, Oct 89

"Other services could suffer at the expense of Games facilities"

Bill Michie, Oct 89

"The WSG could bankrupt Sheffield...if we don't do it right, we are going to look the biggest 'nanas in Christendom"

Frank Price

"The opportunity to host the WSG has captured the imagination and enthusiasm of the whole of the city"

David Blunkett, Dec 86

The Men and The Money...

Since Sheffield's first bid to host the WSG in '86 all the talk has been of the 'prestige', 'glamour' and 'privilege' the people will get. When questions have been raised about exactly what this means, we are fobbed off with empty promises about 'jobs', 'investment' & 'regeneration' as the benefits to our communities. Examples such as Ponds Forge and Meadowhall are held up for all to see. However, scratch the surface of the last 4 years of promises and boasting and a different picture emerges. When Gerry Montgomery made the initial bid (along with Ray Gridley), as Senior Ass. Dir. of Recreation Dept, he said, "The bid is not a council matter but a city matter". Too right. But right from the start the people here have been excluded from having any say, only when a crisis looms have we been asked to be involved and then only to bail out the Universiade (UGB). Whenever the WSG have been in the media, it's been the same mixture of councillors & businessmen who've been blowing the WSG trumpet, but in effect they're blowing their own trumpets. The fact is that the only people reaping any rewards from WSG are politicians & businessmen. The parasites in the 'business community' who've made their millions from exploiting working-class people have joined forces with the parasites on the council who've built their careers off the backs of working-class suffering to line their own pockets and bring more hardship to our class.

DIRTY FINGERS IN DIRTY PIES

Hosting the WSG and the masses of construction work that needs to be done has brought £44 m(est.) to businesses. One such beneficiary is HUGH SYKES. Already one of the richest 200 people in Britain, he is Chair of Sheffield Development Corporation (SDC - the company set up to oversee regeneration of East End, with wide-ranging powers to control & encourage development from Canal Basin to Tinsley). At the same time he is 'non-executive chair' of a company called 'Hallamshire Investments' which by amazing coincidence has a major contract for work in the East End. So, Hughie is set to make a few bob from that. Also on the Board of SDC and Director of HI and on the Organising Committee of WSG is NORMAN ADSETTS. Both have much in common. Both Master Cutlers, both ex-presidents of Chamber of Commerce, both millionaires set to make plenty of profit from 'regeneration'. Not only that but the workers are working under dangerous & unprotected conditions, with already several serious 'accidents' on the sites. Courting both these men is 'Chief of the Brigands' CLIVE BETTS. As leader of the Council and with his deputy sad, sad PETER PRICE he has from the very beginning chosen to side with the yuppies & rich businessmen allowing them to turn Sheffield into a playground for the wealthy simultaneously stabbing working-class people in the back. Betts and Adsetts have appeared so often together in public promoting their warped idea of 'regeneration' that they are known as 'The Double Act' and so popular amongst the business community is Betts that he was the first labour leader ever to get a standing ovation at the annual Cutlers Feast, a sign of whose side he's on. "The council & private sector see very clearly the direction in which we want to go" said Betts in 1988. One such example of this direction is Sheffield Partnerships Ltd - a joint action for 'regeneration' (it's that word again) of the city. Guess who is chairman? Norman Adsetts, who said "my immediate reaction is not motivated by personal interest". Ha ha ha. Tell us another one. As far as SPLtd is concerned, Betts admits "we now have a number of corporate partnerships". How much in back-handers, Scab?

When he was recently investigated by the Dept of Environment as to his 'dual role' in the WSG, Hugh Sykes was simply advised at the 'drawbacks of combining his two roles which could lead to suspicion'. But to parasites like him, this means nothing. The likes of Sykes & Adsetts see nothing but £££ signs.

WHO IS PULLING THE STRINGS ?

Take a closer look at the set-up of the WSG. First of all is the 'ORGANISING COMMITTEE', which has a 'SECRETARIAT'. These have taken over from 'Universiade' which collapsed with more than £4m in debts. The OC consists of 5 people, headed by Pamela Gordon (Chief Executive of the City Council). While Betts, Price, Adsetts, Sykes etc 'promote' the WSG the OC 'organises' it. The Secretariat is headed by Ray 'Evict em' Gridley (Director of Housing & former union-basher with Manchester Council), but includes Gerry Montgomery, chief culprit in this farce, invited back into the fray after quitting UGB in '89. The Homeless Section at the Town Hall has only one phone to deal with people's housing problems but the WSG office has 7 - sums up the council's priorities and commitment to housing. The Sec. is split into 5 sections, each with its own boss, plus a large number of council employees. When we asked how many workers at UGB had been re-employed in the secretariat they began to squirm and refused to answer. Have they got something to hide? Are the people who ran up a debt of £4m with UGB playing the same stupid games? It is strange how the same people seem to be involved. "We're not going to do an Edinburgh" commented Gerry Montgomery in '87, but with under a year to the opening ceremony it looks likelier than ever that they are 'doing a Sheffield'.

LIES, DAMNED LIES AND THE STUDENT GAMES

The people of Sheffield were 'promised' 10,000 jobs as a result of the WSG, yet a year away the 'organisers' are asking for 6,500 VOLUNTEERS to work in the WSG. Now, we know Scab Betts is into Slave Labour, but our class has been taken for a ride one time too many. A similar scam is the 'One Million Club'. On April 23rd this year, seeing that UGB was on its death bed, the cronies involved launched an appeal using such Tory celebrities as Seb Coe, Marti 'Sun City' Caine and Richard 'Apartheid Made Me' Caborn. Its aim was to raise £27 m towards running costs, by getting a million people to pay £27 each.

With the backing of the Sports Council, the 'One Million Club' was born. But hang on a sec, weren't UGB and the new Secretariat supposed to be finding the sponsorship, via the business world? Of course, but then we all know what sort of people are behind this. Make the people pay (twice) and then the political and business parasites pocket the profit & prestige. Alan Bamford knows what's in it for him - as Director of Henry Boot he enrolled 1,000 employees in the scheme. It's also to appeal to this idea that 'if the people of Sheffield pull together the WSG will succeed'. Don't be conned. WE'VE HAD ENOUGH - TIME FOR ACTION

This is not the whole story but just the tip of the ice-berg. We are limited by space to expose the scandals, corruption, personal gain and betrayal of working-class people which are an integral part of the WSG. However, the story will not stop here. This sort of circus is what the Labore Party now represents; it has never had anything to offer us and it has become a pale imitation of its Tory idols. The class of people who stand to lose are the people who always get shat on by the likes of Betts & Price. How much will it cost us to use the facilities after the WSG? The prices will soar out of our reach. THESE ARE NOT OUR GAMES!! Against all this conniving & scheming is a backdrop of a city being destroyed by central govt with the collusion of a council with no guts. Just as with the Poll Tax, we must fight the Labore Council too.

FUN, GAMES & SABOTAGE

Because opposition to the WSG has been largely unvoiced, the WSG will go ahead, just as the yuppification of the city has taken root. But, sooner rather than later we, the ordinary people of Sheffield will have to do something. From refusing to pay the Poll Tax to picketing the Games, if we're not asked for our opinion then we'll have to give it anyway. The Council will want us to be as invisible as possible, so as not ruin their spectacle. But we should be as VISIBLE as possible, raising our voices, working to mess up their plans which they made without our consent.

THE ROGUES GALLERY OF BRIGANDS AND GANGSTERS...

CLIVE BETTS

Wanted for crimes against the people of Sheffield. Leader of City Council and Labour Party 'New Realist' (i.e. sell-out and scab). Cambridge Graduate in economics, he is 'financial helmsman', forging partnerships & alliances with the likes of Adsetts & Sykes with the Labour leader to get standing ovation at annual Cutlers Feast (where industrialists crow over their wealth). Appears so often with Adsetts in public promoting the city that they are known as "The Double Act".

NORMAN ADSETTS

A real criminal. Has a vested interest in WSG being a success. Director of Hallamshire Investments, which has contract for building work in Lower Don Valley area. He is the other half of the "Double Act" with Betts. On Board of SDC and Chair of Sheffield Partnerships Ltd as well as leading member of "Partnership In Action", the union of Council with business. Chairman of Regional CBI.

BEV STOKES

Director of UGB and ex-chairman of Bassett Foods. Called for a £25 levy on all Sheffield people to pay for the Games saying, "Fund the Games from the Poll Tax". Known Tory but has found an ally in Betts and the new Secretariat. Complete scumbag.

MALCOLM NEWMAN

Chief Treasurer of City Council - the 'Penny Pincher'. Sidekick to Betts, this 'supremely confident Treasurer' has promised to send non-Poll Tax payers to prison whilst helping Betts and finance chairman Howard Knight enforce government-imposed spending restrictions (i.e. cuts). Likes to watch people being evicted. Along with Knight he told council workers in the Town Hall to vote against taking action against the Poll Tax.

RAY GRIDLEY

City Council Housing Director, was in charge of previous Games Secretariat when Sheffield won the bid in '87. Wanted Chief Executive's job but lost out. Now has it, as Director of the new Secretariat. More interested in money & prestige than getting people housed, he lets it be known how pleased he is. Helped assemble the original bid. Previously worked for Manchester Council where he was known as a 'union-basher', which he carried on in Sheffield, sending illegal & threatening letters to striking housing workers.

GERRY MONTGOMERY

Made the initial bid for the WSG in Nov '86, then Senior Assistant Director of Council's Recreation Dept.. Director of Sport till Nov '89 at UGB, he's now back as Head of Sports in the new Secretariat. Has no principles whatsoever and is proud of it. "I want the WSG to succeed because the rewards will be huge. Especially for me".

PETER PRICE

Deputy Leader of Council, Betts' right-hand man. Famed for treating Sheffielders like dirt. Instigator of Council's "Alliance of Greed" with big business, he hopes his political career will take off after the WSG. At a Public Meeting with Parkhill Tenants over the closure of their swimming baths he refused to answer their questions and sat and picked his nose. All-round arrogant shit. Has paid his Poll Tax.

HUGH SYKES

Along with Adsetts will get a nice, big windfall from the WSG. He is 'non-executive Chairman' of Hallamshire Investments, Chairman of SDC and was on the Board of the now defunct UGB. One of richest 200 parasites in the country, he also talks about 'prestige' and 'investment' while rubbing his hands with glee. Wants 'more productive relations between council & business community', i.e. cheap land for his business and building contracts for H.I.

TELECON

On Sunday/Monday the 27th/28th of May Sheffield City Council is hoping that up to 2,000 people will paint the Hyde Park student games village for NOTHING. It is also looking for 7,000 volunteers to help during the games themselves. This is after all the lies we've been told about how the games will create 'thousands of jobs for Sheffield people'. It is also rumoured that 'young offenders' will be forced to join in. Showing their true opportunistic flair the Labour Council is using the 27 hour Telethon event to disguise the blatant abuse of 'free labour' and has gift-wrapped it for the public as a charity event.

CRISIS

The success of the Student Olympic Games has been an impossibility from the start. Major cities which have hosted similar events have lost millions of ££s, e.g. Edinburgh, Auckland where the people are still paying for the 'privilege'. Here in Sheffield the situation will be the same. In December '89 Universiade GB sacked its Chief Executive followed by the resignation of its 'finance director'. During the whole of 1989 the Universiade GB survived crisis after crisis. The cost of the facilities has grown from £29M to £150M. Imagine the inevitable financial burden on Sheffield people when U-GB can't come up with the sponsorship deals and the council is left to foot the bill.

GAMBLE

The Games are a massive gamble taken in our name by our supposed leaders without any consultation.

We are told that the Student Games:

- 1) Will bring jobs to the city.
- 2) Will 'attract' new investment & rejuvenate the city as a whole.
- 3) Will make Sheffield the 'prestigious' capital of the North.

Tell us another one! This is all lies. Since it became public that Sheffield was to stage the Games, the true nature of this 'prestige deal' has become clear:

-In the areas where there are developments, e.g. Meadowhall, the workforce has not been recruited from local people.

-Small businesses on Attercliffe Rd have been forced to close down to make way for parking spaces.

-Communities throughout Sheffield have seen their public amenities cut; local leisure facilities, community centres, adult education. Just about every area of community life is suffering from lack of resources, transferred to finance the Student Games.

PARKHILL HIT HARD

Already, in the run up to the Games, the Parkhill Estate has lost its Youth Club and its local swimming baths. But not only has the Council stolen Parkhill's facilities, they also say they haven't got the money for the other facilities Parkhill really needs such as a Nursery, while only a couple of hundred yards away the Hyde Park Flats complex is being converted into a luxury, yuppie village complete with jaccuzis. Not only are the Parkhill tenants' lives being disrupted but they aren't benefitting. Broomhall has also lost out, Glossop Road Baths, the only Victorian Turkish baths in S. Yorkshire, and a vital facility for local people, is facing closure for redevelopment as a nightclub!

Royal opening for Games site

HER ROYAL Highness the Princess Royal will officially open Sheffield's Ponds Forge International Sports Centre.

Princess Anne who is patron of the 1991 World Student Games will perform the opening ceremony on Wednesday, April 17.

Ponds Forge, which has an Olympic-standard swimming pool and an international-class sports hall, will be the venue for the final of the water polo event and for the swimming and diving competitions during the games in July.

It opens to the public in the first week of March and the venue is already acknowledged to be the best in Europe and one of the finest in the world.

By Neil Fieldhouse and Mike O'Sullivan

The venue has been awarded a string of major events including the 1993 European Swimming Championships.

THE STAR SAYS

Ray Gridley, director of the Games administration, said: "It is fitting that such a magnificent facility should be opened by our patron."

"We look forward to showing the Princess Royal what we are doing in Sheffield for the World Student Games and for British sport."

Princess Anne has already said she will attend the Games' opening ceremony at the Don Valley Stadium on July 14 and the closing ceremony on July 25.

She will also spend July 19 in Sheffield watching some of the events.

Ponds Forge will make its TV debut on March 22 when the BBC is due to screen highlights from the European diving cup. Grandstand will also cover the event the following day.

Search for army of volunteers to help run Games

By Mike O'Sullivan

BRITAIN'S biggest volunteer recruitment drive was launched in Sheffield today as World Student Games organisers asked for an army of 5,000 helpers to step forward.

The bid to attract volunteers was made at the newly-refurbished Lyceum Theatre, which has been upgraded at a cost of £12m in the city-wide package of new facilities for the Games.

Sheffield City Council, which needs to raise £17m to £27m to run the Games, launched the appeal despite calls for the event to be called off because of a feared cash shortage.

The council is still talking to sponsors over the costs of special uniforms for the volunteers.

And bus companies may provide free transport to help cover travel expenses.

Interest

Anyone aged from 16 upwards can volunteer for duty during the sports extravaganza to take on a wide range of jobs, including cleaners, interpreters, and boys and team attaches.

About 2,000 people have already expressed an interest but the council says it now wants to finalise plans for the Games, which will feature 11 sports in 12 days of competition from July 14-25.

Dave Boursnell, of the council's World Student

Games secretariat, said: "We are very confident people are going to step forward."

"We're relying on a big publicity campaign — 2,000 people have already come forward without any major effort and that's very encouraging."

Design

"We need most of them for Sheffield although we do need them for regional centres such as Doncaster, Dewsbury and Wakefield."

"We can only provide accommodation for a few key volunteers and we're looking for them to come from the Sheffield travel to work area."

Many students from Sheffield university and polytechnic are expected to volunteer to help the Games.

Those who have already come forward include Nick Kates, president of Sheffield University athletics union, who is helping with recruitment of volunteers.

Wheelchair-bound Suzanne Rockett, a student at Sheffield polytechnic, is offering to boost the Games after winning a fencing bronze medal in the Para Olympics.

Sheffield student Sally McKiernan, who was the athlete for the GB men's gymnastics team in the international against Romania in the city, is helping out with administrative work in the Games office.

Crisis! What crisis?

WHAT a year of political change in Sheffield.

It started with hardly any money raised for the World Student Games. And it's ending with hardly any money raised for the World Student Games.

It started with calls for city council leader Clive Betts to resign from one post or another. And it's ending with calls for city council leader Clive Betts to resign from one post or another.

But even with next week's emergency and entirely extraordinary council meeting fixed up to run many people's New Year's Eve; even with revolution simmering in the Labour ranks, Clive is unlikely to oblige. Though if he shouts "I fight on — I fight to win", think again.

In the meanwhile, next year's much-vaunted Sheffield slogan might be neatly amended. For 'It's Our Year' read 'It's Our Bill'.

This isn't, of course, the standard reading of events according to deputy leader Peter (the Games are worth it at any) Price. Meeting after meeting, TV interview after TV interview, he has beamed his worried smile, like a man who has eaten too much All Bran for breakfast.

He has promised a proper balance sheet next month (honest) and has assured the world that the Games are on course and that there is absolutely no problem, not even the slightest hint of crisis.

Problem? Crisis? As the captain of the Titanic said: "Iceberg? What iceberg?"

Or as Clive Betts said on a recent Radio Sheffield interview: "If we had thought this venture was heading for failure, we would have said so."

Stephen McGlarence

As it happens, they haven't needed to say so. Everyone else has said so for them.

It's easy to be cynical, but it's even easier to realise that if no-one else really wanted the Games in the first place, there must have been something wrong with them.

That something was pinpointed in a televised Town Hall debate last February — no-one, experts reckoned, had actually heard of the Games, so television coverage and sponsorship would be almost impossible to get.

Sheffield's supposed left-wing image (now wildly at odds with reality) would discourage business sponsorship, and the Government has very few soft spots for the city. Not much dosh there.

But Sheffield bounded ahead — well-intentioned but, in many people's eyes, naive. And now, by trying to shed red tape and pretending to be businessmen, the council have painted themselves into a corner. The city is, as they planned, now firmly on the map. But it's a different map from the one they had in mind.

As an unkind critic remarked the other day: "World Student Games? There's one for the Sheffield Museum of Hype!" Damage limitation, he thought, was all the city could now hope for, even though we've got some lovely running tracks. And slaughtering matches between Betts and ex-Games boss Peter Burns don't help.

Or — well, put it this way, Clive.

Peter Price

There's a postal order in the post.

Oh, and: It's a funny old world.

Of course it's not all been World Student Games this year. There have, hearteningly, been many other occasions to observe councillors living out their usual fantasy — that being elected to represent a local ward makes you an instant expert on anything and everything.

Your experience of theatre may be limited to Punch and Judy Shows or Cleethorpes prom, but Being Elected qualifies you to pontificate on trends in world drama.

You may know nothing about art (and not even know what you're supposed to like), but your sudden chance enables you to consider selling off the city art collection to pay for The Games.

So what of 1990? Not a great year for council debate — though I'm only partially qualified to judge. By one of those curious coincidences that take weeks of planning to arrange, I managed to miss a great wodge of council meetings through the summer.

One of the meetings I did attend also pulled in The Man From The Guardian. He clearly came expecting the League of Nations. After half an hour he sighed. After an hour he groaned. After an hour and a half he looked round in anguish.

The following morning his words hit the nation's breakfast tables. 'Petty parochialism' was a verdict that still rings in the memory.

Petty or not, it has been fascinating to watch Tory Angela Knight effortlessly sprint toward the vacuum that Margaret Thatcher has left behind her (It still seems, five weeks after The Resignation, as though Mrs Thatcher is on an extended State Visit abroad and will come back eventually to relieve her caretaker Prime Minister, the Boy Major. But at least he gave interviews).

The most sense, as ever, has come from our old friend Philip Moscrop. Meeting after meeting, his incisive vision has pulled events into a new and urgent focus.

On pollution: "We've got atomic fish in the Irish Sea. We've got dogs running up and down the beaches with things all over them."

On procedure: "The rudiments of this debate are like that one in Holland who put his finger in the what-they-call-it and cried wail."

And on a current political development: "It's in a dogma."

He was talking about Kashmir. But if the cap fits locally, wear it.

'Ugliest town' hopes to polish image with student games

SHEFFIELD'S accident-prone staging of the World Student Games this summer was strongly defended by geographers, planners, businessmen and local politicians at the conference.

The "unheard case" for the games was argued yesterday in terms of sustained yield for Sheffield in image, facilities and jobs.

Preparation for the games, which face a running deficit of at least £11 million, has been plagued by difficulties raising sponsorship and negotiating television coverage, and by rifts between the city council and management.

Dr Paul Foley, of Sheffield University's town and regional planning department, said the city was bedevilled by outdated images of soot and smoke. "Horace Walpole's phrase —

'one of the foulest of towns' — and George Orwell's — 'the ugliest town in the old world' — are proving difficult to shake off," he said.

Sheffield might have neglected elementary financial calculations in its eagerness to stage the games, but present profit-and-loss criticism was too simplistic, Dr Foley said.

"We should be looking more closely at all the 'extra' benefits from the games, rather than concentrating solely on the question of where the money will come from."

His paper suggested that the games would create more than 11,000 jobs in Yorkshire and Humberside, at an average of £24,780 each, compared with £28,760 on development schemes elsewhere.

Sheffield would benefit from the publicity, he said, but be left with some of the finest sporting facilities in the country, built at a cost of almost £140 million.

"This will leave the city well placed for an Olympic bid, perhaps in tandem with Manchester or Birmingham," Dr Foley said. "To abandon them now would threaten everything. For a few extra million pounds, the city will get a far greater return on the £136 million already invested in capital projects."

Norman Adsetts, chairman of Sheffield Insulations, said that the enterprise was the culmination of unlikely but effective co-operation between the Labour-dominated city council and entrepreneurs like himself.

Peter Price, deputy leader of Sheffield city council, described the games as a lynchpin of co-operation between the council and Sheffield Chamber of Commerce.

2 weeks of Games...40 years of debt!

as a move towards this have organised a Public Meeting to rally opposition and to move towards a plan of action. We would be very eager to make links with all involved in 'Glasgow Keelie' to learn from your own experiences of opposing the 'regeneration' and decimation of Glasgow at the hands of the property developers and Labour Politicians. Would any of you be interested in coming to Sheffield to meet with us, discuss the issues involved and perhaps even speak at the meeting? (it is on April 4th). Any cooperation is greatly appreciated. Furthermore, we realise that this scenario is not special to just Sheffield & Glasgow and as such we feel it is important that as many groups as possible that are organising against the continued exploitation and down-treading of our class should forge links and work together, exchange info etc. What do you think - are you already in touch with such groups?

Well, I think that's enough for now, we look forward to your reply, keep up the excellent work and don't let the bastards grind you down! Until we hear from you, stay strong,

In Solidarity,
Grem.
